A REAL PIE FACE . . . Dennis Terada may not have won the pie-eating contest last week at the Harbor City School summer playground program, but he certainly faced up to the problems at hand, as is shown here. The playground will close tomorrow and will remain closed until Sept. 19 when the regular after-school program is inaugurated.

Mothers Class Opening Today

"How the Baby Grows" will be the subject of the first session of the expectant mothers' class, today at 1 p.m., in the Torrance Health Center, according to Dr. B. A. Kogan, district health officer, under whose direction these classes are organized. Other subjects which will be discussed in the course include the health of the prospective mother, care of the new baby, hospital routine, baby's formula preparation and bath technique, and care of the older child. Several films pertaining to baby and child care have been booked by Miss Carolyn Lubka, public health nurse who has been assigned to teach the classes this fall. Prospective mothers are invited to attend the course which is a tax-supported educational program of the County Health Department.
